

BRINGING DIGIARTS TO YOU!

What is it about?

The EU project DigiArts wants to support young people and youth workers in restoring the interpersonal dialogue that is often "interrupted" by Covid-19. This is based on the values of "restorative justice", which stands for power sharing, equality, dignity, respect and involvement in decision making. Different areas of art such as dance, theater, handicrafts, etc. are used as a platform for expression.

The aim of the project is to provide new approaches to conflict management and prevention and to help optimize communication, integration and self-efficacy among young people.

As part of the project, activities were developed in five thematic areas that we will present to you and also get active with you to try out one or the other activity.

Problems & challenges of digital work

Stereotypes among young people

Conflict resolution & negotiation

Empowerment & self-efficacy

Commitment & Participation

The activities are designed in such a way that they could be used, for example, in theater work, but also in work with young people in a school context, in youth welfare or as part of leisure activities.

We hope that we can get you excited about the topic and win you over!

Best regards

Your EU team from BUPNET

Depending on the attendees the event will be held in English or German.

DigiArts

Co-funded by the European Union